According to Sumathi Krishnamurthy, “The event was as an eye opener for many people to understand what an LPO is as there are still a number of people who do not understand the industry.”

The second phase was the Job Fair whereby a number of KPO/LPO employers met the enthusiastic crowd of job seekers on one-to-one basis. The job seekers comprised of fresh and experienced candidates both. They were not only from the North part of the country but from west and southern part too. The event was not just beneficial for the employers seeking right fit, but also catered to the needs of a number of job seekers who are specifically looking to join the LPO industry. The event not only helped them explore several career paths available, but also helped understand differences between BPO and LPO, and key differences and requirements of judicial systems in the US and UK to that of Indian judicial system.

A massive turnout of candidates at the stall of Quattro

According to Madhuri Azad, MBA, Professional, "I found this panel discussion and job fair a kind of platform for all professionals, freshers, and corporate leaders where they can learn more about the industry and reach their goals. I have got an opportunity to meet with a number of employers and have distributed more than 20 copies of my resumes at their desks. They all are very serious and are looking to fill positions. I just wish that such events occur more to provide a really good knowledgeable platform for the candidates." More and more job seekers seem to endorse the similar view to that of Madhuri. According to Narendra Singh Bisht, Law Graduate, "It was an excellent initiation and helped clarify a number of doubts about the LPO industry." Clearly, there seems to be a greater collaborative opportunity for such events specifically in the KPO industry. Let's do it. Together!!
